Weather Forecast Office

Hazardous Weather

Scattered Showers and Storms Today

Greatest Coverage East | Heat Indices 105-109 | SE Winds 5-10 mph

Weather Forecast Office
Corpus Christi, TX
Issued Aug 26, 2021 4:02 AM CDT

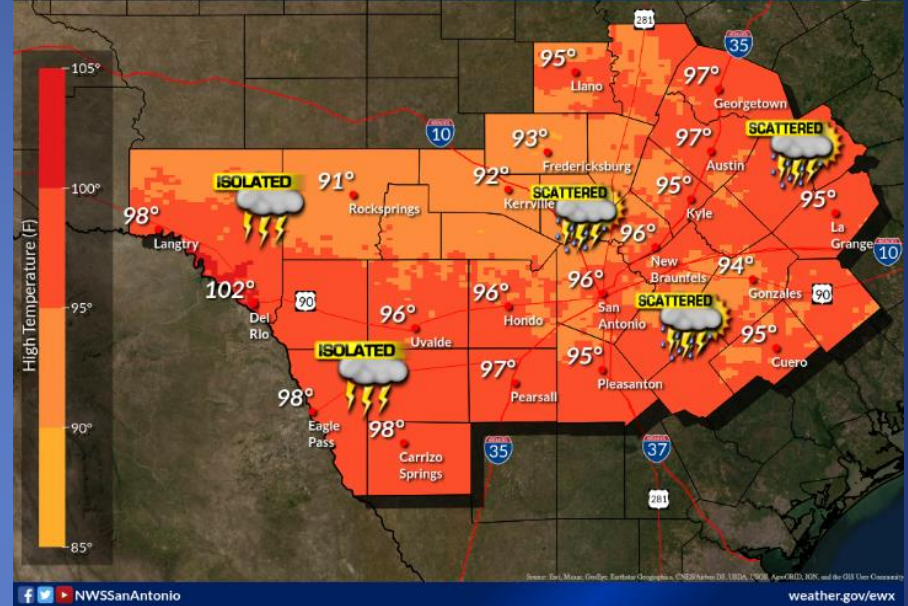

Scattered showers and thunderstorms are possible today across majority of South Texas due to increased moisture along with a surface and mid-level inverted trough. Greatest coverage is expected near the coast and Victoria Crossroads, then move further inland in the afternoon. Heat indices of 105 to 109 are of concern again. Winds will be light out of the southeast 5-10 mph.

Isolated to Scattered Showers and Thunderstorms Today

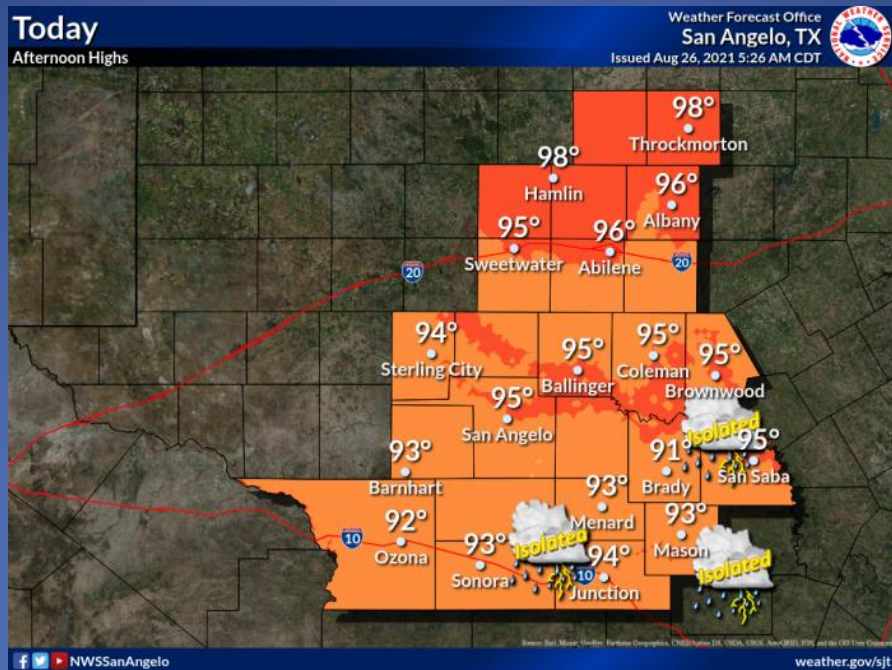

Best chances after midday

Weather Forecast Office
Austin/San Antonio, TX
Issued Aug 26, 2021 3:59 AM CDT

Look for better chances of isolated to scattered showers and thunderstorms today as an easterly wave moves from East Texas into our area. Rainfall will be spotty, with many locations remaining dry, quite a few getting 1/10 inch of rain or less, and isolated locations maybe getting around 1 inch of rain. High temperatures will vary in the 90s at most locations, except for near 100 along the Rio Grande Plains.

Hazardous Weather

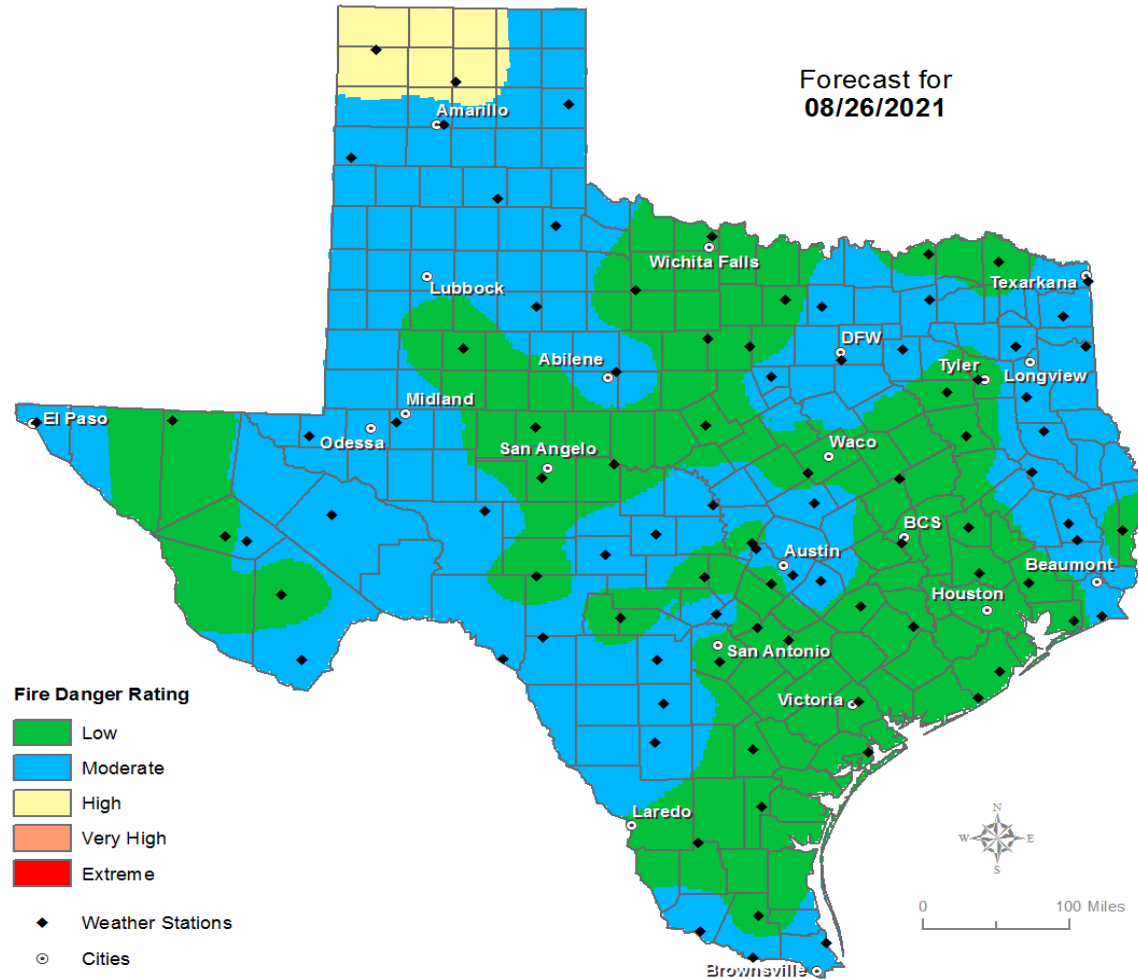

Expect hot and mainly dry weather today. Scattered showers and isolated thunderstorms are possible this afternoon mainly southeast of a Sonora to Brady line.
